

Conversation with Hyland re Saturday Meeting

Group will be presented with a laundry list of issues about which decisions should be made.

No decisions will be made except:

- culling issues for consideration
- commissioning more detailed papers or optional action papers
- setting aside more radical options as unacceptable

Order of march:

1. Oversight and restrictions
2. How to deal with Congress
3. Options for organizations

President feels that many from whom he wants advice do not seem to be taking problem seriously.

e.g. a couple of people who were invited to meeting tried to get out of it, but President insisted they come.

Thus, President's purpose is to force serious consideration.

Hyland characterized meeting as a serious event but certainly not a watershed.

Re: Bush--Hyland's judgment is that changes will not be made in Agency until Bush has had an opportunity to be here and have his say.

--I tried to get the basis for this judgment but could not. I do not know whether this is his own opinion or whether he has some concrete basis for saying this.
